Q1 Media secures Mutoh dealership

Q1 media is pleased to announce that it has been appointed the South Australian dealer for Mutoh Wide Format Machinery and Graphtec Cutters and accessories.

We are excited and look forward to being part of the network of dealers that is managed by Alloys, the company that oversees the sales of Mutoh in Australia.

Alloys selected Q1 Media to drive the Mutoh brand in SA, understanding the importance of having a team that offered combined expertise and knowledge of the industry.

As well as managing sales, Q1 Media will also be the service agent for Mutoh in South Australia so customers can feel confident knowing that they will receive excellent after sales support.

Q1 Media has been servicing the sign and print industry for over 20 years and this appointment reinforces our commitment to provide every customer with a total solution for their business.

Mutoh is renowned for being a market leader in the printer industry and continues to evolve by introducing innovative technological advancements to its portfolio of wide format machinery.

If you are considering purchasing a wide format printer or cutter or perhaps upgrading your existing machinery, we look forward to discussing the range of options with you.

We welcome you to visit our showroom to view our demo models at work.
